

Recherche

Nour Meddahi, élu membre de la société savante internationale Econometric Society

18 juillet 2018

Nour Meddahi, professeur d'économie (Toulouse School of Economics et UT Capitole) a été élu membre du comité régional de la société savante internationale l'« Econometric Society », la plus prestigieuse dans le domaine de l'économie.

Nour Meddahi, Professor of Economics (Toulouse School of Economics and UT Capitole) has been elected member of the Regional Standing Committees of the Econometric Society, the most prestigious learned society in the field of economics.

The Econometric Society is an international society for the advancement of economic theory in its relation to statistics and mathematics.

Find out more about the Econometric Society

